Wilfred Watson's Wooing.

[Walter Champ in Up-To-Date.]

CHAPTER I.

Wilfred Watson, widower, wandered Westward—walking—whiling weary weeks wantonly. Watching winds witching with wheelmen's whiskers, Watson wiled winsome widow, wincing with wounds—wrecked wheel, weeping willow. Wound-weakened woman, wiping wheel, wished wine.

CHAPTER II.

Working wits, Wilfred Watson went womanwards with whisky. Winnie Wessell, wayworn wheelwoman, was wheezing. Watson winked wickedly. Worldly widow with wilted weeds, warily wet whistle with welcome whisky. Wilfred Watson wisely wooed wistly—wondering. Woman whimsical, wily, winsome. "Wilt winsome widow wed?" whispered Wilfred Watson. Widow wondered—where, when—wilted. Watson won wife.

CHAPTER III.

With Winnie Wessell, wife, Wilfred Watson wheeled westward—wagging—whistling. Wily widower—wilted, worldly woman—wobbling wheel—whisky, whispers, wedding. Whilom widow, willing wife. Western wags wonder where wheel went.

WHEEL NOTES.

Lines About Devotees Of The Wheel, At Home And Elsewhere.

Over 100 Louisville wheelmen started on a century run Sunday but only 39 finished the distance.

The Fayette Wheel Club has organized with fifty members and a capital stock of $1,000. The club will build a track and have electric light races.

Joe Grimes the heavy-weight wheelman, formerly of Maysville, has returned from a trip abroad. He weighs 540 pounds and left fifty pounds on the roads of Ireland, Wales, England, Scotland, Belgium, Holland, Germany and France.

About Turnpikes.

The Fiscal Court of Nicholas county has bought four turnpikes. The County Judge has refused to grant guards on the Maysville and Lexington turnpike, on the ground that the company did not accept the provisions of the new Constitution and can receive no benefit from the Martin law.

A dispatch from Ewing says that gates have again been put up on the Maysville & Lexington turnpike and special guards and collectors are in charge. It is said that a reward of $100 has been offered if the collectors kill a raider.

The Fiscal Court of Mercer county, unwilling to pay for guards at tollgates in the face of a vigorous popular protest, will probably offer to pay a monthly rental to the turnpike company equal to the average monthly receipts from tolls.

Garrard now has free pikes.

The Fayette Fiscal Court Wednesday purchased the Leestown & Russell Cave roads, paying $8,000 for the former and $7,000 for the latter. The gates have been thrown open.

The first outrage that has been perpetrated at a Fayette county toll-gate occurred Tuesday night when two masked men went to the second gate on the Richmond turnpike, eight miles east of Lexington, and robbed Gate-keeper Stivers of $100 in money and $1,000 worth of negotiable notes. Two men, charged with the crime, are in the Lexington jail.
